IN BRIEF //

Views wanted on housing services

If you're a social housing tenant or leaseholder in Newham, you may have received a questionnaire through your door asking for views on the services your landlord provides.

The council wants to find out what you think about your home, your landlord and your neighbourhood. In a similar survey last year people said priorities were tackling anti social behaviour and improving caretaking and cleaning.

If you have received a questionnaire, please take the time to fill it in. All the information provided is completely confidential. For more information contact Ipsos MORI on freephone 080 8238 5443.

Help for families

Newham Council's chief executive, Kim Bromley-Derry, has been asked by the Government to chair a national group of professional bodies and voluntary organisations. Kim will advise on the development of a new approach to families with multiple problems.

He said: "Helping the most disadvantaged and dysfunctional families sort out their problems benefits everyone – the family themselves, local communities and tax payers. I am sure that all local authorities will welcome any new learning which shows how this can be made a reality for more families."

YES open

Newham Council is once again looking for young people aged 16 to 18 to apply for its Youth Employment Scheme (YES).

To apply online visit www.newham.gov.uk/yes or for more information call Bena Mandalia on 020 3373 8730 or turn to page 39. The closing date for applications is Friday 28 January.

Newham keeps on running

West Ham United stars Matthew Upson, Scott Parker and James Tomkins joined athletes from Newham and Essex Beagles to officially launch the Newham London Run 2011.

The council-run event takes place on Sunday 27 March. Runners will take in West Ham Park, The Greenway, Stratford Park and pass in front of the Olympic Stadium.

Numbers this year are expected to be in the region of 5,000. The council has made 100 free places available for residents aged 15 and over on a first come, first served basis.

Newham's executive member for health, Councillor Clive Furness, said: "Thousands of people will get the chance to see the fantastic progress in the Olympic Park.

"Encouraging people into sport is a key part of what we do here in Newham and I'd encourage residents to sign up as soon as possible."

For more details about entering the Newham London Run see pages ten and 11 or visit www.newhamlondonrun.org

Housing service announcement

Newham Council has agreed that housing services should be brought back under its direct control in order to save money and continue to deliver good housing services.

An agreement with the arm's length management organisation, Newham Homes, will come to an end from April. Consultation with tenants and leaseholders was carried out in November and 56 per cent of those consulted supported this change.

Councillor Andrew Baikie, executive member for housing, said: "It is simpler, more efficient and more effective for the housing management service to be returned to the council. Significant savings are likely to arise which can be used to fund service improvements.

"We can cut duplicate costs – and the biggest benefit for tenants and leaseholders is that customer services, neighbourhood management and community safety will be provided by one organisation."

It is business as usual in the meantime, with services to tenants and leaseholders not affected. The transition of services back to the council should be seamless.

News

Disabled residents get Right to Control

Newham has become one of the first areas in the country to pilot the way disabled people use state funding. Right to Control allows disabled residents to buy their own support services or equipment.

Disabled people can now combine money from different funding streams to be spent on whatever they think most appropriate for their needs. It will allow a more personalised service, joining up housing, employment and community care.

Minister for disabled people, Maria Miller, visited Stratford's Jobcentre Plus to mark the launch of Right to Control. She said: "This is about putting disabled people in charge of their own decision making, instead of telling them what they can and can't spend their money on."

Councillor Neil Wilson, executive member for equalities and social inclusion, accompanied her on the visit. He said: "Right to Control will improve the lives of disabled people and Newham is proud to be a trailblazer. We are committed to making individual budgets available for those eligible so that they have greater choice, control and flexibility."

Read more about Right to Control on page 18.

Sports funding plea

The Young Mayor of Newham, Ali Mohamed, has given a cautious welcome to a partial U-turn from the Government on its decision to scrap the School Sports Partnership programme.

Ali wrote to education secretary Michael Gove urging him to reconsider a £162m cut under which funding for 450 sporting initiatives between primary, secondary and specialist schools would be cancelled.

The minister has now said that £65m will be available over the next two years to allow one PE teacher per school to be released for a day a week to boost competitive sports.

Ali said: "Although it is a step in the right direction, I don't think the Government has gone far enough. This programme has been successful in Newham and needs to grow as the 2012 Games get closer."

Boost for market redevelopment

Mayor Sir Robin Wales helped to 'break ground' on the £180m redevelopment of the Rathbone Market site in Barking Road, Canning Town.

He was joined by Sir Michael Lyons and Bob Lane, who chair the English Cities Fund and London Thames Gateway Development Corporation respectively, to mark the delivery milestone.

The first phase of the project includes 271 new homes, which will be completed by late summer 2012. The market will continue to trade during the construction. Stallholders have been relocated next to the remaining shops.

Sir Robin said: "This development represents a crucial part of the borough's physical and social regeneration."

The 680,000 sq ft market scheme is one of the first sites to be developed within a wider masterplan that sets out a vision for the regeneration of the whole area.

Protecting what matters

I would like to wish everyone a happy new year, but given all the doom and gloom following the government's spending announcement I would be a brave man to say it's going to get better in 2011.

The cuts that have been imposed on us means that we have to plan huge reductions in expenditure over the next few years. The government themselves have accepted that Newham is being hit more fiercely than better off areas of the country.

Yet thankfully in Newham we have been preparing for this for some time. Over the past two years we have focused spending on residents' priorities such as crime and anti-social behaviour, street cleanliness and unemployment, whilst freezing our Council Tax which remains the lowest in outer London. The savings we have made thus far will help protect us all, as far as is possible, from the massive cuts in central government grants.

"It means we can continue to improve and defend what residents value and what makes the most difference to all of us."

We have a good record of delivering efficiencies. Our move two years ago from 26 office locations into one will have saved us £12m per year by March as part of a £68m savings package over the past three years. The move has greatly increased the efficiency of our work and we expect that the savings from the building will be around £24m per year by 2014.

It means we can continue to improve and defend what residents value and what makes the most difference to all of us. We will not be victims of the cuts. We will protect what matters most to us.

Instead, where it is in the best interests of residents the council will invest – and this may mean some tough, but balanced, choices. My role is to listen and respond. You can tell me what you think our priorities should be by visiting our Newham Together sessions, which you can find out about on page 14.

We simply won't have the resources to provide everything we have in the past – but it's about more than saving money, it's about giving people real choice and control. People want a life and a chance to do things together.

Our aim is that our residents are better equipped to make the most of the opportunities coming to the borough, able to turn to each other for support and to overcome the challenges that life throws at them and together make Newham a place that people choose to live work and stay.

We will look to help those who want to better their own situation, but we will stop doing things if the evidence shows we are not helping people.

One thing we are keen to protect as much as possible is our ability to deliver a fit and proper legacy of the Olympic and Paralympic Games. I want the Olympics to inspire people and raise their ambitions to be healthier and more prosperous.

Inevitably, however, as we have to make large scale cuts, I fear the Olympic legacy and the transformation of people's life chances in the East End may be in jeopardy.

“One thing we are keen to protect as much as possible is our ability to deliver a fit and proper legacy of the Olympic and Paralympic Games. I want the Olympics to inspire people and raise their ambitions to be healthier and more prosperous”

Carnival of delights

I'm already looking forward to the carnival on 16 July that will herald the start of the Mayor's Newham Show – and judging from the pupils I've met recently, so are they.

I've been to thank Shaftesbury, Hartley, Kaizen, Selwyn and Carpenters primary schools for taking part last year and I've heard some of the colourful ideas they have in store for this year.

The carnival procession is an important part of the Mayor's Newham Show weekend and one that as a community we can all enjoy together. It is always an exhilarating start to the show with hundreds of people in spectacular costumes dancing through the streets. I can't wait!

Get £430 for your child's school with the free school meal deal

As part of the Mayor's Promise #2, all children in Newham primary schools are currently entitled to free school meals. However, the Government has brought in new funding which gives an extra £430 per pupil to schools who meet national criteria for entitlement to free school meals.

If you receive certain benefits, and have a child in primary or secondary school, you need to apply now to ensure your child's school receives this additional funding.

Sign up, sign up!

As a parent you need to sign up if you receive any of the these benefits:

- > Income Support
- > Income based Jobseeker's Allowance
- > Income Related Employment and Support Allowance
- > Child Tax Credit and Revenue and Customs has assessed your annual income as less than £16,190

- > Guarantee Credit element of Pension Credit
- > You are being supported under Part VI of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999.

Children who receive a qualifying benefit in their own right are also eligible to receive free school meals.

If you receive Housing Benefit or Council Tax Benefit, but none of the above, you do not need to apply. Similarly, if you don't receive any of these benefits, you don't need to do anything.

Fill in the form

Signing up is easy. Simply fill in the application form available at your school, visit your Local Service Centre, or call 020 8430 2000. You can also visit www.newham.gov.uk for more information.

We need to make sure our schools get all the money they are entitled to. If your child goes to any primary or secondary school in or outside Newham you need to sign up.

Make sure you complete and return your application form to your child's school or a Local Service Centre by Monday 10 January.

If you need more than two hands to count the number of mince pies you ate over Christmas, now's the time to think about getting off that couch and into those trainers. Rather than going green with the cabbage soup diet, why not turn a glowing pink by working up a sweat and applying for a FREE place on the Newham London Run (NLR) 2011.

Back by popular demand, on Sunday 27 March you'll once again have the chance to jog, run or sprint the 10k route taking in the spectacular sights of Stratford's High Street, The Greenway, the Olympic Park, West Ham Park and Stratford Park. Thousands of runners took part in last year's event and this time even more competitors are expected to sign up for the challenge.

Free running

Newham Council has 100 FREE places to give away to residents aged 15 and over of all abilities. Spaces are allocated on a first come, first served basis and you can claim your free place by emailing run@newham.gov.uk with your name and address.

The closing date to request free entry is 12midnight on Sunday 30 January.

If you don't manage to get off the couch in time, you can still register by visiting www.newhamlondonrun.org and paying the £22 entry fee. The final date for paid entries is 12midnight on Sunday 6 March.

Fitness fun

Joining a running group is a great way to get motivated and increase your fitness. Here two residents talk about taking part in Run in England (RiE) sessions which take place across the borough.

Rob Parfrey from Beckton

"I volunteer to lead the Run in England session on Saturdays in Wanstead Flats. I encourage all people who come to my session to sign up to the NLR. It's free and the route is perfectly accessible for beginners or those wanting to build up their confidence for longer races."

Lynn Echauz from Stratford

"I go to the RiE sessions on Tuesdays – I didn't think I could do it but there are all different shapes, sizes and ages at the sessions and now I'm there every week, whatever the weather. Signing up for the race is great motivation and gives you something to work towards."

Padma Sivapunniyam from Plaistow

"If anyone had told me that I would run one day I would have died laughing because that was something I never thought possible."

"I completed the NLR last year and ran 10k nonstop which was a huge achievement for me. I'm training with Bisi (pictured far right) at her sessions, she continues to be very encouraging and supportive, which spurs me on."

NEW BINS FOR A GREENER NEW YEAR

The turkey's been binned, Christmas cards and wrapping chucked and the Christmas tree scrapped. But as you were decluttering, did you think twice about where you were putting all your rubbish or what would be recycled? With the new year in full swing, now's the time to think twice about what you're throwing away and where it goes.

New year, new recycling bin

You told us you wanted a better recycling service – and we have listened. From 24 January to mid March, residents who have space will be receiving a new recycling bin, making recycling easier and greener as more materials can be recycled.

Using your recycling bin

Your new recycling bin will have an orange lid. Once you receive it, you can stop using orange recycling bags and use your bin for all waste that can be recycled.

All non-recyclable waste should still be put in your rubbish bin.

Use your rubbish bin for waste

Your rubbish bin should only be used for waste that cannot be recycled or composted. Cooked food, nappies, meat trays, yoghurt pots and plastic food packaging should go in here.

Boosting recycling in flats

If you don't have room for a new recycling bin, or live in a high rise flat, you should continue using orange recycling bags as normal.

Residents in flats will benefit from improved recycling facilities from April when special recycling bins will be installed in communal areas. Look out for further updates later in the year.

Collecting waste morning, noon and night

Your rubbish bin will now be collected in the morning and your recycling bin collected in the afternoon or evening on the same day. This will stop recycling material being contaminated with domestic waste.

While you wait

We're getting recycling bins to residents as quickly as we can. But until you receive your new bin please continue using your orange recycling bags. Place bags, containing recyclable waste only, next to your rubbish bin, not inside.

When you receive your bin, recyclable material should be placed directly into it. Do not put recyclable material into bags before placing in the bin.

You do not need to use orange recycling bags once you receive your new bin.

Do not leave extra waste at the side of either bin.

Make use of our FREE waste services

Items that cannot be recycled in the new bins can be disposed of in these ways:

- > the council collects large household items such as carpets, mattresses, fridge or freezers for free. Call 020 8430 2000 to book a collection
- > take glass bottles and jars to your nearest recycling bank or to Jenkins Lane Reuse and Recycling Centre (RRC), IG11. To find your nearest recycling bank visit www.newham.gov.uk

- > we'll collect garden waste such as grass cuttings, leaves and weeds for free, or you can compost these. If you have a real Christmas tree contact the council who will collect and recycle it. To book a collection call 020 8430 2000.

To order a compost bin from as little as £4 call 0845 130 6090.

Never dump your rubbish on the street. Use the council's free waste services or take unwanted waste to Jenkins Lane RRC.

It's really important that your new recycling bin is only used for recyclable material. This includes:

Facing the cuts together

Newham has been more harshly affected by the coalition government's spending review than almost any other London borough. During the next four years our funding from central government will be cut by approximately £75m, while richer areas lose far less.

Faced with these severe cuts, the council's top priority continues to be meeting residents' needs. To do this, it is essential we understand what matters to you most.

Mayor Sir Robin Wales is holding a series of Newham Together sessions where you can understand how council funding has been affected and tell him what services you value.

You can share your opinions at the following Newham Together sessions; please arrive promptly:

Saturday 22 January:

11am-12noon, Lister Room,
Newham Town Hall, Barking Road, E6

Monday 24 January:

9-10am, Forest Gate Youth Zone,
1 Woodford Road, E7
1-2pm, Canning Town Library,
Barking Road, E16
4-5pm, Globe Library,
1 Kingsford Way, E6

7-8pm, Britannia Village Hall,
65 Evelyn Road, E16

Monday 31 January:

6.30-7.30pm, Council Chamber,
Old Town Hall, Broadway, E15.

What you say will help shape our services and priorities. Last year you told us you wanted:

- > less crime and anti social behaviour
- > cleaner streets
- > more jobs .

In response, we've:

- > helped more than 5,000 people into work through Workplace since 2007
- > increased the number of officers tackling anti-social behaviour
- > taken greater enforcement action against those who fly-tip and litter.

We've worked hard to support you by freezing Council Tax and providing free school meals to all primary school children, saving families £330 a year per child.

By working in partnership with residents, we want to determine if our current priorities are still important so we can carry on meeting your needs.

Sir Robin said: "It's not fair that one of the poorest boroughs in the capital faces such deep cuts whilst other richer areas get off more lightly. That's why we will continue to lobby the government for a better deal for Newham."

When's your WACaday?

It's no secret that the key to youthfulness and happiness lies in being active. Socialising puts a spring in your step, allows you to meet new people and has health benefits that can make you feel better too.

If you're aged over 50, head to your nearest Winter Active Centre (WAC) and start enjoying a WACKy winter. With more than 30 WACs open on weekdays, collectively hosting more than 15 different activities, there's no excuse to stay indoors this season.

WACs are based at most community centres in the borough, so there's bound to be one near you. And you can leave your wallet or purse at home as all the activities are free.

WACs are as much about socialising as they are about getting active so pop in for a hot drink and a chat. If you're feeling energetic WACs also offer:

dance – disco and line dancing and monthly tea dances learning – Get Online sessions, planting and growing, cake decorating, trace your family tree, dressmaking and flower arranging enjoyment – singing, Wii computer game league and BIG Bingo healthy living – new age

kurling, healthy eating and nutrition and aerobics relaxation – all WACs offer free tea and coffee.

Each WAC hosts different activities on various days and times. See the list on the opposite page for information. You can just drop in or for full details of the centre's winter programme call the centre directly during the times stated.

Don't forget, if you're aged over 60 you can still swim for free during selected sessions at all leisure centres in Newham. For details visit www.gll.org/centre or call into any Newham leisure centre.

Whether you want to try your hand at something new, rediscover a passion or just want to know what all the fuss is about, find out what your local WAC has to offer.

For more information on WACs call 020 3373 3298 or visit www.newham.gov.uk/activecentres

If you're a WAC regular why not bring a friend for afternoon tea on Wednesday 26 January at Beckton Community Centre, East Ham Manor Way, E6.

From 1.30-4.30pm enjoy a cuppa or try out Wii games, new age kurling, BIG Bingo and dance tasters. Everyone who brings a friend who's new to WACs receives a free raffle ticket.

Power to the people with Right to Control

We tend to know what's good for us and what support we need. That's why the Government is giving disabled individuals the right to make their own decisions about how money is spent on their support.

If you are disabled, you may be eligible for Right to Control (RTC), a new legal right for disabled people. You can get RTC if you receive one or more of these services:

- > Access to Work
- > Community Care Services
- > Disabled Facilities Grant
- > Independent Living Fund
- > Supporting People
- > Work Choice.

What do I have the right to do?

If you are disabled and receive any of the above services, under RTC you can use the money given to you to buy your own support. This gives you greater choice and control.

Meet Mick

Mick is a man in his forties with a physical impairment. He is a wheelchair user and employs six personal assistants throughout the month and a driver to drive his adapted vehicle.

The cost of Mick's support package is divided between different support services including Access to Work and social care services from the council.

With the introduction of RTC, Mick will benefit by receiving all of his funding on the same day which makes it easier to manage cash flow and pay tax and National Insurance. His monitoring forms will also be simpler to fill in.

Like Mick, you can choose how to spend your money, or you can decide to keep getting the same support services as you do now if you are happy with them. You can also let Newham Council or Jobcentre Plus sort out what support services you need or you can have a mix of these.

Speaking up at the House of Lords

Students from two Newham schools swapped the chairs of their classrooms for the luxury red benches at the parliamentary House of Lords recently as they debated whether to elect, select or reject the current system of membership.

Beckton's Kingsford Community School and Forest Gate's St Angela's and St Bonaventure's Sixth Form joined more than 150 students from across the UK for the debate. Representatives from the schools each eloquently put forward their arguments for a solely elected House of Lords (Kingsford) and a combined hybrid option of 30 per cent elected and 70 per cent appointed system (St Angela's and St Bon's).

In seats usually reserved for peers who scrutinise and debate legislation from the House of Commons, teenagers discussed four options for the House of Lords as part of proposed reforms, which also included arguments for and against the abolition of the current appointed system.

The debate, chaired by Lord Speaker Baroness Helene Hayman, was the result of weeks of preparation and mentoring by Lords and Baronesses as part of the House of Lords outreach programme. This was the fourth such annual event in the House of Lords and the only time in 2010 that anyone other than peers spoke in the House.

Thought-provoking and articulate arguments were put forward to members of the student audience by all opening and closing speakers. Retaining the current system came out top in the final vote.

Commending the debate, Lord Speaker Baroness Hayman commented: "You've done yourselves and your generation proud. I said at the beginning every event gets better and you've proved me right."

Speaking after the event Annie Teriba from Kingsford Community School, who were mentored by opposition spokesperson for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, Baroness Quin, said: "To debate in the House was a really big honour and privilege. To know that you're sitting in the same place as some of our country's most esteemed people makes you aspire to be there and want to go for it. I think it's a very good way of inspiring young people to do more with their lives and want to go further."

The topical debate was a sign of our times with the Government's proposals for reform of the House of Lords anticipated early this year.

A man with a Plan

Ben's first album, Who Needs Actions When You've Got Words? was a grimy urban tale of life on the edge. It's a far cry from the soulful, cosy ballads of The Defamation of Strickland Banks which have earned Ben his stripes in the mainstream charts.

Ben grew up in Forest Gate's affluent Woodgrange Estate, but his single mum had to get by through renting her rooms. Ben said: "Kids in the council estates had better trainers and clothes than me. I used to be made to wear my older sister's hand-me-downs.

"I was in this weird void. At school, I got teased by council estate kids who had Nike trainers and talked about their Sega Megadrives – which I didn't have – and these same kids would come to the house and look at it and say: 'wow, you're rich'."

Ben makes no secret about his troubled teenage years, citing, in amongst a colourful past, his time at the Pupil Referral Unit at the Turnmarsh Centre saying: "Kids like me got a lot of love and encouragement from there.

"A lot of people in the area didn't like me. I was an angry young kid. I think I got a bit of a bad rep. When you get a rep from young, it follows you, and people will blame stuff on you because it's believable."

Fast forward 15 years and Ben's illicit days are far behind him but have certainly shaped the talented man he has become. As he was overseeing the edit of his first feature film, Ill Manors, filmed almost entirely in Newham, he spoke candidly to the Newham Mag.

You're a rapper, singer, actor and director; which is most important to you?

I need all of them. Without singing, I was just an ignorant white boy from a council estate, in the eyes of the public. I need the hip hop; it gives me a connection with the kids and credibility with them. I need the singing for the adults and I needed the acting so I could understand what I wanted from an actor. If I stopped acting I'd stop learning. I'm a storyteller. In order to be the best I can be I need all these things.

Peel back the layers of the suited gent known to the world as Plan B and you're left with Ben Drew; lumberjack shirt, jeans and an East End accent which doesn't tally up with the melodic tunes which have become synonymous with this bad boy done good from Forest Gate.

What do you like most about where you grew up?

A lot of my fondest memories happened on Wanstead Flats.

I think people from Forest Gate have a certain way of thinking. I've met people I didn't know from Forest Gate and they've the same sense of humour, the same vocabulary. There's just something about that place. I'm very proud I'm from there.

Why did you want to cast a Newham actor in one of the lead roles in III Manors?

I care about the kids in the community, that's why when I done III Manors I went and casted proper kids. I casted this kid from Rokeby School, he's gonna be a star – he is a star. He's 13. It's given me a purpose. Say what you want about me but I care about people. I wanna help change kids' lives in the area. It's just a shame that there was only one vacancy in my film for one kid. I would love to have helped people more.

What advice would you have given yourself as a teenager?

Find something that you're passionate about and be realistic about whether you can achieve it. Don't jeopardise your potential and get into a stupid fight with someone, or do anything that could go on your permanent record. Just focus on what you're passionate about. Do everything that you can to educate, inform and skill yourself within that field. Don't do it for money, fame or anything other than the fact that you love it. People are going to talk down to you 'cause of where you're from, the way you speak, and your vocabulary ain't great – don't you ever let that break you down.

NOVEL AMBITIONS

Mina Bint Muhammad, 15, from Stratford talks about the world of words and having her first book published.

"My love of reading comes from the first verse of the Qur'an. That was when I realised the power of the written as well as the spoken word. As the saying goes, the pen is mightier than the sword, and I think this holds true for all authors. Speaking of which, my favourite authors include JK Rowling, Jacqueline Wilson and Anthony Horowitz.

"I feel I've accomplished something by being a fifteen-year-old author, and I really hope that my generation of novelists will be as good as the last one"

"My book, See Red, is all about consequences. This is something that a lot of teenagers have to deal with and we often do things before thinking about them, which results in bad consequences. My main character – Jenna – only realises her actions when it's too late. "Some places in Newham feature in my book such as Stratford Shopping Centre and Stratford Library. It was important to include these locations because I love Newham for its diversity. This is portrayed in my book, such as when Jenna has an identity crisis, not knowing which racial group she fits into at school.

"I have had a lot of support from my school, Sarah Bonnell, with my book, right from the very beginning. In April – that's when my book will be published – I will be having a book launch at my school, so I'm really looking forward to that. I feel I've accomplished something by being a fifteen-year-old author, and I really hope that my generation of novelists will be as good as the last one."

Mina with her book

Mina's book See Red is published in April and will be available from all Newham libraries.

Local Housing Allowance (LHA) rates January 2011

Number of bedrooms

Weekly amount

shared room rate (one bedroom in shared accommodation)	£ 80.00
1 bedroom	£ 167.31
2 bedrooms	£ 207.69
3 bedrooms	£ 255.00
4 bedrooms	£ 300.00
5 bedrooms	£ 375.00

The table shows the rates we will use to calculate the maximum amount of housing benefit for tenants affected by LHA. The actual amount of benefit that a tenant will get depends on income, savings and who lives with them.

From 06 April 2009, the maximum LHA rate payable for new claims is for the five bedroom rate only.

How to work out LHA entitlement

The LHA rate a tenant is entitled to depends on the number of bedrooms allowed for them and their household.

One bedroom is allowed for each of the following:

- > a couple
- > a single adult/young person (over 16)
- > two children of the same sex under the age of 16
- > two children regardless of sex under the age of 10
- > any other child

For example, an adult couple with a child would be entitled to one bedroom for the couple and one bedroom for the child.

This means that the 2 bedroom LHA rate would be used to work out their benefit.

Eat Well at Newham

Patients coming to Newham University Hospital NHS Trust will soon be in for a tasty treat when it comes to mealtimes.

Last year, the Trust, with private sector partners, piloted a new initiative called Eat Well. The initiative not only gives patients more choice about what they eat, but also when they eat. The new high quality meals are more nutritional and offer greater variety to patients.

Great grub

The project has received very positive feedback from patients and patient representatives who were invited to taste the new meals. In the pilot, 100 per cent of patients rated the food and the service as either good or excellent. Patient Arvind Parmar said: "They've got varieties that give you choice, cultural needs are met and the menu is clear."

There's a great variety of food on offer from Asian, Arabic and western halal dishes to fish, vegetarian and lighter meals. Meals come with a starter and choice of hot or cold pudding, and dishes are marked with extra information such as healthy, easy to chew and gluten free.

Due to this success, Eat Well will be rolled out to all patients in Newham later this year.

Hot stuff at tea time

The new system is based on heating meals when the patient wants to eat.

The new service runs for two hours instead of the traditional shorter service times, giving patients a bigger window to request meals. This means that every patient can have fresh hot grub when they want it.

Eat Well also allows nurses to manage patient meals more efficiently. If a patient is away from their bed, for example because they are having an X-ray, the nurses can tell the catering team to delay that patient's food until they have returned. This ensures all patients receive a fresh hot meal.

Changing the way we deliver services

Demand for adult social care in Newham is rising and this, combined with the impact of the Government's comprehensive spending review on the council's budget, means that Newham Council has to consider how it funds services for vulnerable residents.

For this reason, the council is proposing to change its charging policy for adults in receipt of non-residential care services including personal budgets.

Currently we meet the total cost or make large contributions towards most non-residential provision, such as Meals on Wheels, transport and laundry services. There is already a small charge for some services, but the proposals mean that in some cases charges will increase, or more people will have to pay for some aspects of their care. Proposed changes include a flat rate charge for some services, with others requiring a financial assessment to determine an individual's ability to pay.

Introducing a revised charging policy for adult social care is the fairest way to ensure that the most vulnerable people can still access free care, and that those people who receive benefits to pay for their care use these funds to support their needs. At present, many users who receive welfare benefits intended to be used towards the cost of their care do not use them for this purpose.

We anticipate that only 35 per cent of the people who currently use non-residential care services will be affected by the proposed changes.

If you're an adult who receives care of any kind, or know someone who does, we need to hear from you. We also want everyone in Newham to have a chance to comment on the proposals as many residents have friends or relatives that use non-residential social care services.

People who require these services in the future will also be affected by the charging policy.

SHISHA LOUNGES UP IN SMOKE

Ten illegal shisha lounges have been shut down by Newham Council and the police with 30 others facing the chop in a bid to crack down on anti social behaviour.

The move comes after complaints about several venues which were causing unacceptable noise and disturbance. Drugs and alcohol were also being sold in some of the premises and many were letting in underage customers.

Shisha bars, dubbed as dry nightclubs, are set up in marquees which have no planning permission and are often within unsafe or even toxic environments.

Cllr Unmesh Desai, cabinet member for crime and anti social behaviour, said: "A number of shisha 'party houses' have cropped up in the borough, operating without a licence and/or planning permission.

"It's not just the council who have these dens on their radar. The police are concerned about the anti social behaviour caused by these so called lounges and their associated criminal activity. Working together means we can tackle the issue with greater force.

"This is not an attack on legal shisha lounges which operate within the law but a warning to those who think they can set up shop without permission – continue as you are and your business will go up in smoke."

"It's thanks to residents who report suspicious behaviour that we are able to investigate these businesses"

Oasis on Barking Road, E6, an illegal marquee at 619 Barking Road, E13, and a shisha lounge masquerading as an internet café at 26 West Ham Lane, E15, are three of the venues that have been closed down.

Illegal shisha lounges are not unique to Newham and during raids across the capital shocking health risks have been discovered. These include carbon monoxide leaks within marquees which have resulted in mass hospitalisation. Tests from some illegal venues showed that various shisha flavours contained the same product as household aerosol air fresheners.

Cllr Desai added: "Many of these illegal shisha lounges are operating undercover, using legal shop façades to disguise what's going on behind closed doors. It's thanks to residents who report suspicious behaviour that we are able to investigate these businesses that flout the law – and take action to shut them down."

To report crime and anti social behaviour, including illegal shisha lounges or noise nuisance, call the free 24 hour hotline, in confidence, on 0800 731 3300.

UP FOR THE CHALLENGE OF RETAIL

More than 180 students recently gained an insight into the business side of the shopping world at a Retail Business Taster day at St Angela's Ursuline School in Forest Gate.

Organised by Newham's 14-19 team, the event kicked off with a presentation by Westfield Stratford City and was followed by a series of workshops which focussed on different elements of retail; from branding and marketing to purchasing and sales. The workshops were run by business leaders with support from students at Newham Sixth Form College and other sixth forms.

The afternoon saw things get fashionable as award winning designer Francis Udom of Bunmikoko showed students a range of his fashion designs and a CD of his fashion show which students then related to their morning's work and learning. The day was topped off with a live fashion show hosted by Blue Sky Media where students could ask questions from the production team.

Retail is a growing employment sector in Newham, especially with the opening of Stratford City in September 2011. Student feedback from the Taster day was overwhelmingly positive with more than 20 per cent of attendees saying they would now seriously consider a career in the retail business sector.

DADI DAY CARE

If you're an expectant father who wants to know how to support your partner through the birth of your child – and become a great dad to your newborn – come along to a DADI (Dad's Are Doing It) day.

In these men only sessions, learn how to be the best dad a baby can have and how to support your partner during pregnancy, labour and after the birth with help from Newham's early childhood services midwifery team.

From bathing the baby and changing nappies to helping put baby to bed safely and helping with breastfeeding, if you're a dad, or will be soon, and want to do it the team will show you how.

DADI days are held on the last Saturday in each month, in one of Newham's Children's Centres. Sessions are free but must be booked in advance. Call Yohana on 020 3373 0286 for venue details and bookings.

The next sessions will be held from 10am-4pm on: Saturday 29 January, Saturday 26 February and Saturday 26 March.

Hoop dreamers make it to Parliament

Almost 50 Newham youngsters with their eye on the ball headed to the Houses of Parliament for the NASSA Annual Achievement Award Ceremony.

NASSA (Newham All Star Sports Academy) is a Newham based basketball team that's always aiming high. NASSA's young people decided the award categories, which recognised the achievements of team members and NASSA partners.

Awards recognised players, coaches, officials and most improved primary and secondary schools. The ceremony was opened by MP for East Ham Stephen Timms who is also a patron for NASSA.

NASSA director, Natasha Hart, said: "NASSA is special because we go beyond just focusing on sport. We focus on developing future leaders and role models by giving young people the fundamental skills that they need to succeed in their lives."

Poem

My fast car
at the middle of the night to fight a knight
for the love of my dreams and the dawn of the day

a roofless flight
along the motorway
yellow strobe light
and white street lines
and my fast, sweet car

do you feel alarmed charmed
by my sweet, fast car and stars
